

Jose Antonio Martínez García is an Assistant Professor of Marketing at the Technical University of Cartagena, Spain. He is an Industrial Technical Engineer and he has a Bachelor's degree in Marketing, at University of Murcia, Spain. Currently he is finishing his doctoral dissertation in marketing. His research interests include services marketing, sport marketing and research methods. He has published several articles in a variety of Thompson- Scientific journals including Psicothema, Journal of Business Research or Tourism Management, and other relevant international journals such as Sport Marketing Quarterly or Journal of Retailing and Consumer Services. He is familiar with both qualitative and quantitative research methods, including interpretative research, metaphor elicitation techniques and quantitative analysis (structural equation modelling, latent class analysis and system dynamics).